HEALY WILL HOLD HIS TONGUE

A Glut of National Exhibitions at th Capital Cities-Emperor William's Future Moves.

Lospos, Aug. 6 .- The coming week will witness the opening of the real work of parliament. The Irish members, including the Parneilites are ready to give undivided support to Mr. Gladstone in getting rid of the tory passage of a nome rule bill. The chief trouble seems to be with the English seals, who, now that they have their seals, appear to have cooled considerably on the home rule issue. They, or many of them, are anxious to oust the tones and get the offices with the aid of the Irish, but have no farther use for the Irish, but have no farther use for the Irish after those points have been the offices. States, has made known the conclusion at which he has arrived: First, poverty of French Canadians; second, large for third, difficulty of establishments and get the offices with the aid of the Irish, but have no farther use for the Irish after those points have been the conclusion at which he has arrived: First, poverty of French Canadians; second, large for the large for the canadians; second, large for the large for liberals, who, now that they have their the frish after those points have been gained. Day after day it becomes more evident that the enactment of a home rule bill depends upon the ability of Mr. Gladstone to continue in personal leadership of the liberal party. Members of the party who gave a factical and apparently loval support to nome rule when an adverse empority made home rule impossible, show their real sentament now that their votes might be really effective in granting what they Healy's Tongue Bridled, It has been suspected for years that if the election of 1886 had resulted differently there would have been many more liberal discontents in parliament than actually avowed themselves to be such and this suspicion is now fully confirmed. Since the opening of par-lament limothy Hea y has been keep-ing very quiet. It has been intimated to him that unity in the Irish ranks would depend upon how far he would bridle his tongue and that some even of his own associates in the anti-Parnellite manks were in no temper to stand any more ribald abuse of that leader's memory. It is also said that Healy entertains a chastening dread of a repetition in London of the horse whipping which a relative of Parnell gave nint in Dublin and that he has received a that that a similar punishment will follow an outbreak similar to that which brought the lash on him before. At any rate Healy scena to have turned over a new leat and keeps his billingsgate for private delectation.

The Hon. Edward Blake of Canada

shows a desire to conciliate both of the Irish parties and is proving to be such a strong and influential accession to the Irish ranks that Healy is said to be growing jealous of him. As Blake is Irish ranks that Healy is said to be growing jeatous of him. As Blake is known to be a man of pure private life. Healy will have no opportunity to enap at him in that direction and will have to wait for some ether pretense for an attempt to weaken the popular candidate. Mr. Blake is generally regarded as the coming leader of the Irish party and it is this fact that tends to arouse and it is this fact that tends to s

The pamphlets declare that Salisbury's account of the origin of free trade was entirely erroneous, as well as his statements as to the effects of commercial freedom upon England's development. The trade of Great Britian was declared to be increasing despite the gloomy croakings of the fair traders. Sir Charles Tupper's scheme of reciprocity was condemned on the ground that Canada's trade is but a trifle in comparison with that of the United States. The report also expresses the doubt whether free trade with the states as proposed would not be more harmful than beneficial to the British interests.

AFFAIRS AT HOMESTEAD. Hugh O'Donnell Is in Boston on Very Secret Mission.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Aug. 6 .- So general has been the feeling of distrust in the leaders, owing to the continued and mysterious absence of Hugn O'Donnell, the acknowledged head and from of the homestead strikers, that the members of the advisory board deem it expedient this afternoon to make known the little leader's whereabouts. Vice Chairman Crawford hunted up a raporter for the United Press, to whom he said: "Hugh O'Donneil is at the United States hotel, Boston. He is in the hub on a secret mission, not only of general importance to the working-men of Homestead, but to the laboring people all over the country. If he is successful the trouble here will soon be at an end. Further than this I can give no information." At variance with Mr. Crawford's statement was the one made by Secretary McConnell, who said : "O'Donnell is in Boston on priwate business in no way connected with the Homestead lockout. The Squawbucks Agree on Two New Bills And

HURRIEDLY LEAVE FOR HOME

The Democrate Had to Come Down From Their Perch and Pass Tolerably Fair Apportionment Bills.

LANSING, Aug. 6,-When the house convened this morning Representative Chishelm, P. of I., introduced a resolution which instructed the apportionment committee to report a bill to the house which reduced the membership to sixty-four. This was advocated and opposed on party lines, the democrats favoring and republicans opposing. Democrate were not slow to see the mmense advantage a bill of this kind would give them. It was discussed at some length and finally amended to leave the matter discretionary with the committee as to the figure at which the membership would be placed. Pending a report of the committee a recess was taken until 12 m.

It was very soon ascertained that the exty-four membership bill, or any other number, could not be made satisfactory, as it discriminated heavily against the country districts, but the democrate would have so great a partisan advantage in it in the election of a United States senator that they clung tenaciously to the scheme.

White's Bill Adopted. When the house convened the committee reported the sixty-four bill without recommendation, and made a unanimously favorable report upon what was known at the regular session as the White bill, its author being Representative White of Kent.

A recess was taken till 1:30, when the bill was unanimensly agreed to in committee of the whole, the sixty-four bill had all after the enacting clause stricken out, and subsequently the former bill was passed under a suspension of the rules by a vote of 81 to 4. The nays were Cannon, H. Johnson and Lambert, democrats, and St. Clair, republican. It was given immediate effect, and sent to the senate.

The senatorial apportionment bill came over from the senate, and the house under a suspension of the rules passed it by a vote of 68 to 10, and it was given immediate effect.

With this ended the duties of the house, so far as the two bills were concerned, unless the senate should amend, which was not among the possi-

An equal degree of harmony pre-vailed in the senate. It became appar-ent to the democrate that they could not command the necessary seventeen votes to pass a bill to their liking very early in the day, so they made a virtue of necessity and assumed to feel happy bubbling over with good nature and when the bill introduced by Senator who had acted with the republicans who had acted with the republicans through yesterday's session, was unanimously reported by the apportionment committee. Republicans gave a sigh of relief and satisfaction, for it indicated that the battle had been won and that Hosford and his follow ing had been humiliated.

The usual formalities were gone through with, the rules suspended, and the bill went through by a vote of 27 to 3. The nays were Senator Jackson, who objected to being placed in a hopelessly democratic district, Taylor, who was not satisfied with the construction of the bill on general principles, and Holcomb, who objected to the boundaries of his district. Immediate effect was withheld until its return from the house, for the reawhat condition it came back, for should it be amended in the interest of democrate, the amendments could be concurred in by a majority vote, and they would be powerless to protect themselves at this stage of the proceed-

Barkworth Had His Way-Fints A bill was subsequently reported in the house providing for a special sesson of supervisors in the counties having more than a representation for August 22. Mr. Jackson of Wayne was suspicious of it, although Mr. Barkworth (democrat) of Jackson warmly advocated it. It failed upon final passage, receiving but 49 votes. This matter disposed of, there was nothing left completed.

The usual committees to notify the governor and each house were appointed and adjournment taken until noon on Monday, in accordance with a concurrent resolution previously passed, providing that final adjournment take place at that time, although no business would be transacted after today.

Ail the members that could reach their homes tonight have left the city. An unusual degree of good feeling prevailed at the close, and republicans have abundant cause for congratuation that they were able to prevent another partisan gerrymander and have instead secured both bills perfectly satisfactory to themselves.

The democrats have been overmatched at every point and frankly acknowledge their defeat.
